Developments in the Soviet Party Congress

During the morning session of 10 October, Politburo member N. S. Khrushchev took up the fourth item on the agenda, the Report on the Changes in the Rules of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. This report was followed by a debate which is slated to last two days. At this time no information is available on either the report or the debate which followed. After the debate is ended, elections to the Central Committee will take place and then the Congress is expected to adjourn. Elections to the new Presidium, Secretariat and Party Control Committee will probably take place at a meeting of the newly formed Central Committee immediately following the adjournment of the Congress.
